

DRAGUTIN DJUROVIĆ

Although not one of those astronomers who have their whole working life devoted to Astronomical Observatory, prof. Dragutin Djurovic for nine years of work on it (five of them as a half-time employee), left a significant mark. In fact, as a professor of astronomical subjects in the Faculty of Sciences, and scholar in astronomical science, he continued some kinds of cooperation. This cooperation was strengthened near the end of his working life (1991), by re-employment, for a determined period (on the project) on the Observatory. Two crucial things determined that we deal with his life and bibliography: his scientific collaboration with astronomers of the Observatory and that he published a good part of his works in the publications of Belgrade Observatory, and additionally, a considerable number of saved documents in his file at the Observatory, which made possible to write this paper.
